About the City

Panipat, a historic city in Haryana (India), is situated on National Highway No. 44. It is 90 kms north of Delhi and 169 kms south of Chandigarh. The three pivotal battles fought near the city in 1526, 1556 and 1761 proved turning points in the history of India. Earlier known as the “City of Weavers”, it is now one of the largest export-centres of handloom products in the country. Being “the global centre for recycling textiles”, it is also known as the “cast-off capital” of the world. Panipat has many amazing tourist spots. The centuries old Devi temple, dedicated to Goddess Durga, and the holy "dargah" (mausoleum) of Muslim Saint Shaikh Sharafuddeen Bu Ali Qalandar are very prominent shrines in the city. It also derives its popularity from the names of Maulana 'Hali', a world famous Urdu poet, and Khawaja Ahmed Abbas, the well-known writer of Inquilab.
